PHOENIX

ST. RAYMOND'S BOYS H.S.
BRONX, NEW YORK

1967

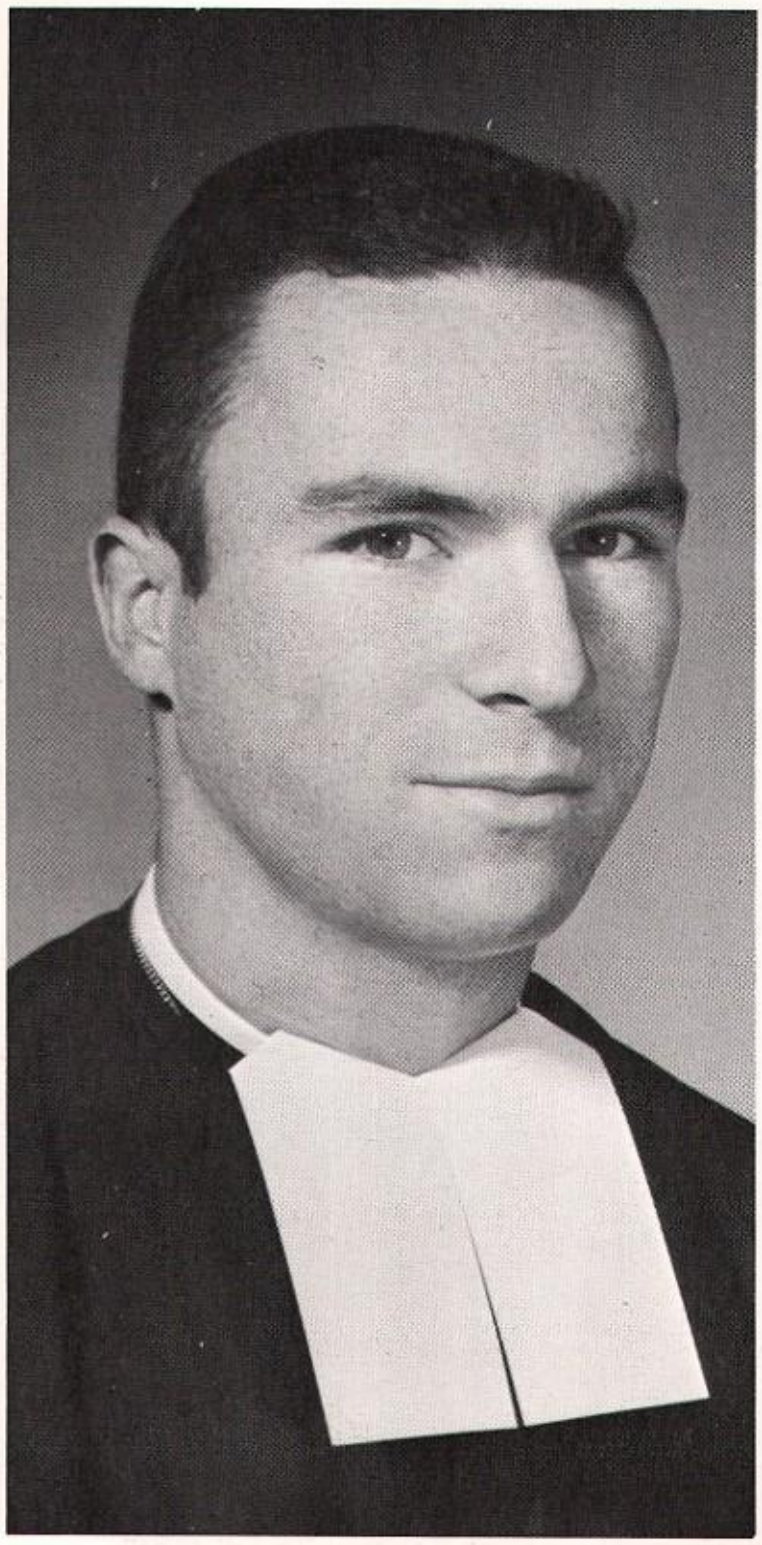
Ancient mythology has rendered to succeeding generations the fable of the phoenix. According to legend, the phoenix; periodically consumed by fire; is then resurrected as the symbol of immortal life. After its renewal the phoenix takes to flight into the atmosphere to attain its zenith.

Parallel, is our educational community at St. Raymond's. The continuously renewed life is not achieved through fire and ashes, but through the fundamental element of which our community consists. That fundamental element is student activity; managed through the guiding hands of the faculty, it matters not whether these activities are educational, cultural, political, athletic or social. It is through these exercises of life that the students of St. Raymond's also attain their zenith.

Thus, we have selected the phoenix, symbol of resurrected life made immortal as our torch to exhibit to all men our desire to meet the challenge of a world in total and continuous metamorphosis.

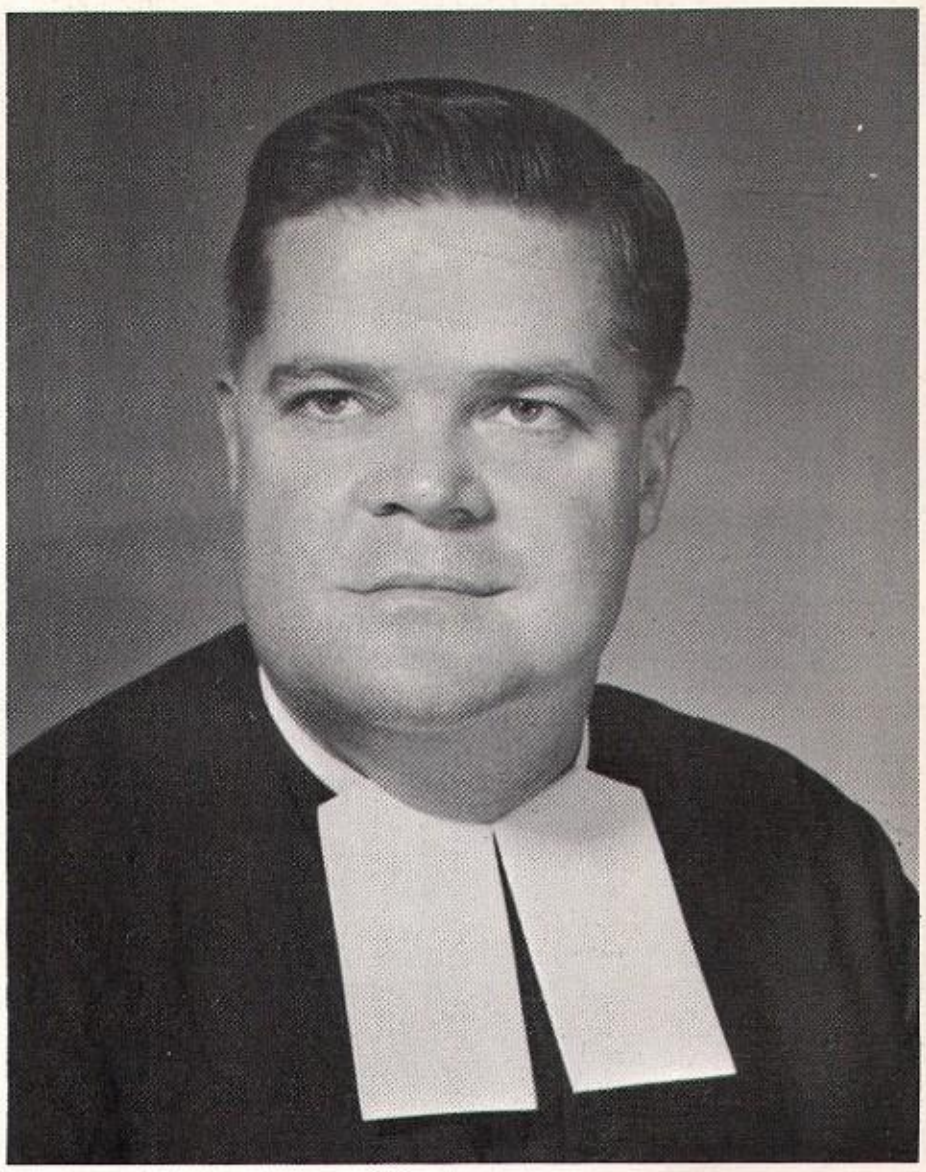
We are yet young, but we are on our way. We are, with valiant effort, approaching our zenith—the moulding into responsible, intelligent men, who are ready to assume positions as members of a generation upon whose shoulders the future of the world will one day rest.

RT. REV. MSGR. GUSTAV SCHULTHEISS, P.A., V.F.
PASTOR
ST. RAYMOND'S PARISH



BROTHER DOMINIC JORDAN, F.S.C.

Words cannot express fully all that the personality and presence of Brother Dominic mean to St. Raymond's. In writing of a man such as Brother Dominic, "Science with a smile," one feels compelled to include his undying loyalty to his students, homeroom and self-sacrifice in all sports activities be they varsity, intramural or Class Nights. To express a small portion of our respect and appreciation for this truly Christian Brother, we would like to dedicate this Phoenix to Brother Deminic for his self-dedication through the service of God for us.



BROTHER AUSTIN BYRNES, F.S.C.

When the words devotion, understanding and friendship are being thought of at St. Raymond's, one person always comes to mind. Brother Austin's warmth and understanding enable us to greatly appreciate the value of having him as a guiding hand in a time of need. As our Vocation Counselor he not only listens, but also becomes personally involved. In addition, he has spent many hours in attaining a more pleasant atmosphere in which we may pursue our educational and athletic development. As seniors, we wish to express our admiration for Brother Austin by offering a tangible yearbook in the Phoenix as a token for his intangible qualities.

JUNIORS

Saint Raymond's junior class is an organized group prepared and anticipating their acceptance of the banner of leadership which will be handed down to them by the seniors. Having achieved a commendable record for academic achievement and extra-curricular participation, the juniors stand ready to continue and improve. This active, school spirited, and scholastically cognizant class await to accept the challenge to deliver whatever is demanded of them.

SOPHOMORES

Our sophomores have surrendered their former superstitions and unfounded ideas concerning the horrors that awaited the advent of their freshman year. They have been able to prove themselves academically by their large percentage in the ranks of the Honor Society. Their school spirit is further exhibited by the many who participate in extra-curricular activities. We, of St. Raymond's, are proud of the sophomores and hope that they will continue to add to their list of already impressing accomplishments, be they scholastic or athletic.

FRESHMEN

Upon their arrival at Saint Raymond the freshmen were befuddled and as small as all 'frosh' should be. However, by no means do they lack an abundance of talent and intellect. Now that their first year is almost complete they have become acclimated to high school life and eagerly await the time when they will be able to welcome other potential Raymen to Saint Raymond's.

STUDENT COUNCIL

This year, the Student Council was transformed from a sleeping giant into a man of action.

Previous councils set the rules, but this was the year that the underclassmen could actually voice their opinions. This is the basis upon which a council must resolve, and this is free and uninhibited representation.

This year the meetings were governed by Parliamentary Procedure. The Dance Committee, Open Meetings, Open Class Meetings S.C.C., Better Food Committee, Constitutional Committee, in addition to the furthering of school spirit were ways, by which it was believed, the council could improve Saint Raymond's Boys' High School.

Near Winslow is three miles across and -blasted out by a fiery id 12,000 years ago. nd of ancient rock dis- play, take the 22-mile drive through Petrified Forest National Park ($1 a car). At the Visitor Center museum, the exhibits and an outdoor stone "forest" tell the story of these vivid fossils. You'll find five more forests (and many Indian petroglyphs) on the drive north to the Painted Desert; there the claylike ridges glow red, yellow, and blue—especially at sunset.

● Durango and Silverton. As Engine 462 shrills its whistle twice and chuffs out of the Durango station, you're headed for unique adventure, 1880-style. Before you steam into Silverton, 47 miles and 3,000 feet away, you'll glide past flower-filled meadows, sheer granite precipices—and mountain outcroppings that force the bright gold train into tight loops. On the way, the narrow-gauge tracks skirt the tumbling Animas River; three hours later, at the old mine camp of Silverton, there's a realistic shootout waiting, along with a hearty western lunch. Make reservations early (round-trip $6; children 5 to 15, $4.25; under 5, free).

Besides the Silverton train ride, Durango offers restored frontier hotels, saloons, and top-rated melodrama.

● Indian ruins. The high desert has been gentle with these relics of ancient tell equally exciting stories; as yo walk the ghostly rooms, you'll wond at the skill of these early people.

● Monument Valley. From the Navaj Trail (U.S. 164) at Kayenta, you se colossal red-rock buttes, some loom ing up starkly 2,000 feet from th desert floor. Startling enough durin the day, at sundown they take on blue-tinged, spectral air. Save tw hours to tour the Navajo Tribal Par (75 cents a car); for 14 miles, you wind along the bases of these unbe lievably big rocks, occasionally dodg ing a herd of sheep or passing a mu hogan. For an unforgettable day, rid a four-wheel-drive car far into remot back country. There, in the intense, a most unearthly stillness, you'll sens the magic of these red towers ($11 day each for four or more).

● Lake Powell. If you can imagine blue-green inland sea 180 miles long bordered by sheer red cliffs an buttes, you'll have a fair idea of Gle Canyon National Recreational area Along its shores, narrow side canyons bore deep into the rock; in Labyrinth Canyon, your boat hangs suspended i the crystalline water, 150 feet abov bottom—and often 300 feet beneat the crest of massive stone walls. Al most anywhere, you can find a seclud ed camping beach or fishing spot.

Wahweap Lodge (by the dam) make an excellent headquarters, with its ne lodge-restaurant and floating marin (95 slips). Lake cruises range fron one-hour trips to the dam ($2.75) to day's voyage to the famed, 300-foo

HONOR SOCIETY

The Honor Society at St. Raymond's is rapidly assuming the role of the pulse for the entire student body. Its members are chosen on the basis of scholastic excellence, leadership and character. In addition to participating in every school activity, its members also provide a tutoring system through which many students have improved themselves academically. In keeping with its goal of being one of the main pillars of scholastic achievement, the Society has provided distinguished lecturers who have spoken on subjects ranging from the psychology in Don Quijote to College entrance requirements.

Associate Moderator, Mrs. Audrey Jaffa, and Moderator Mr. Allan Blonde meet with Society member Christopher Fitts.

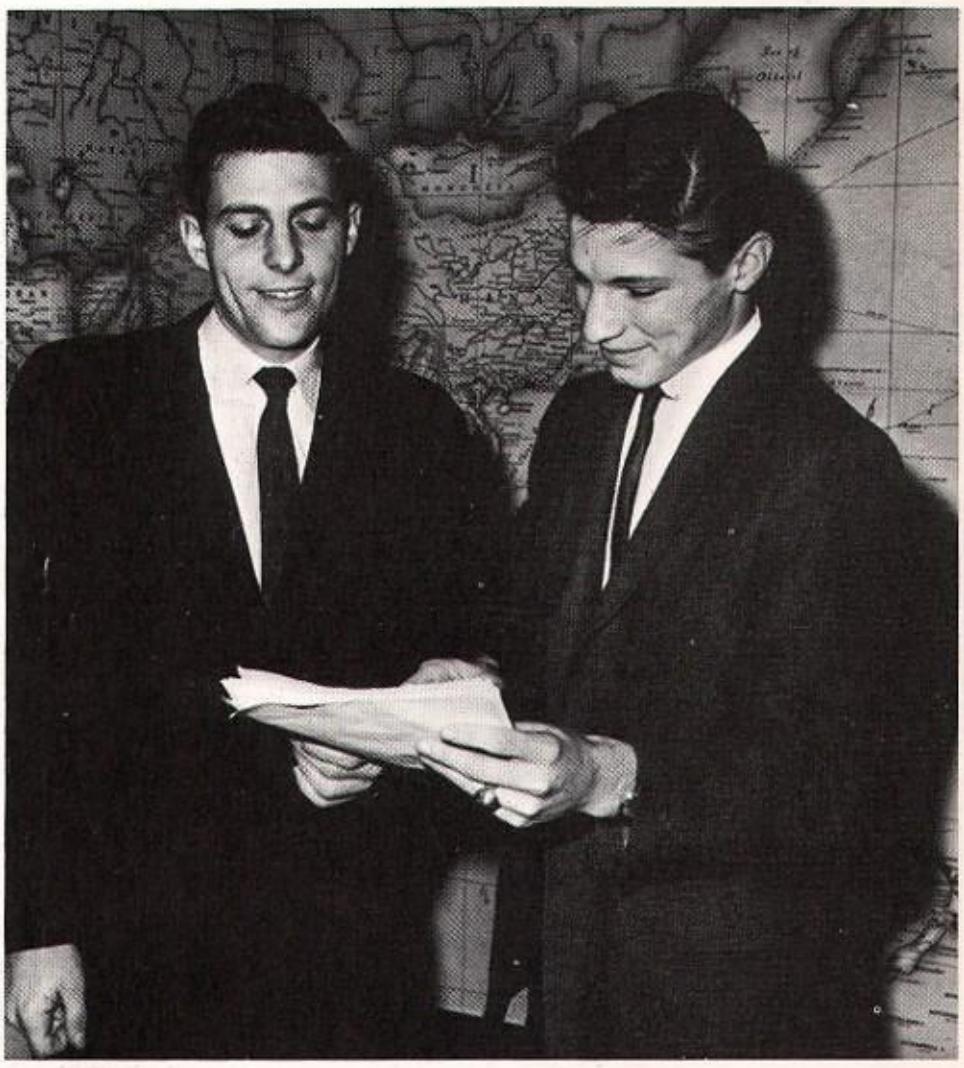
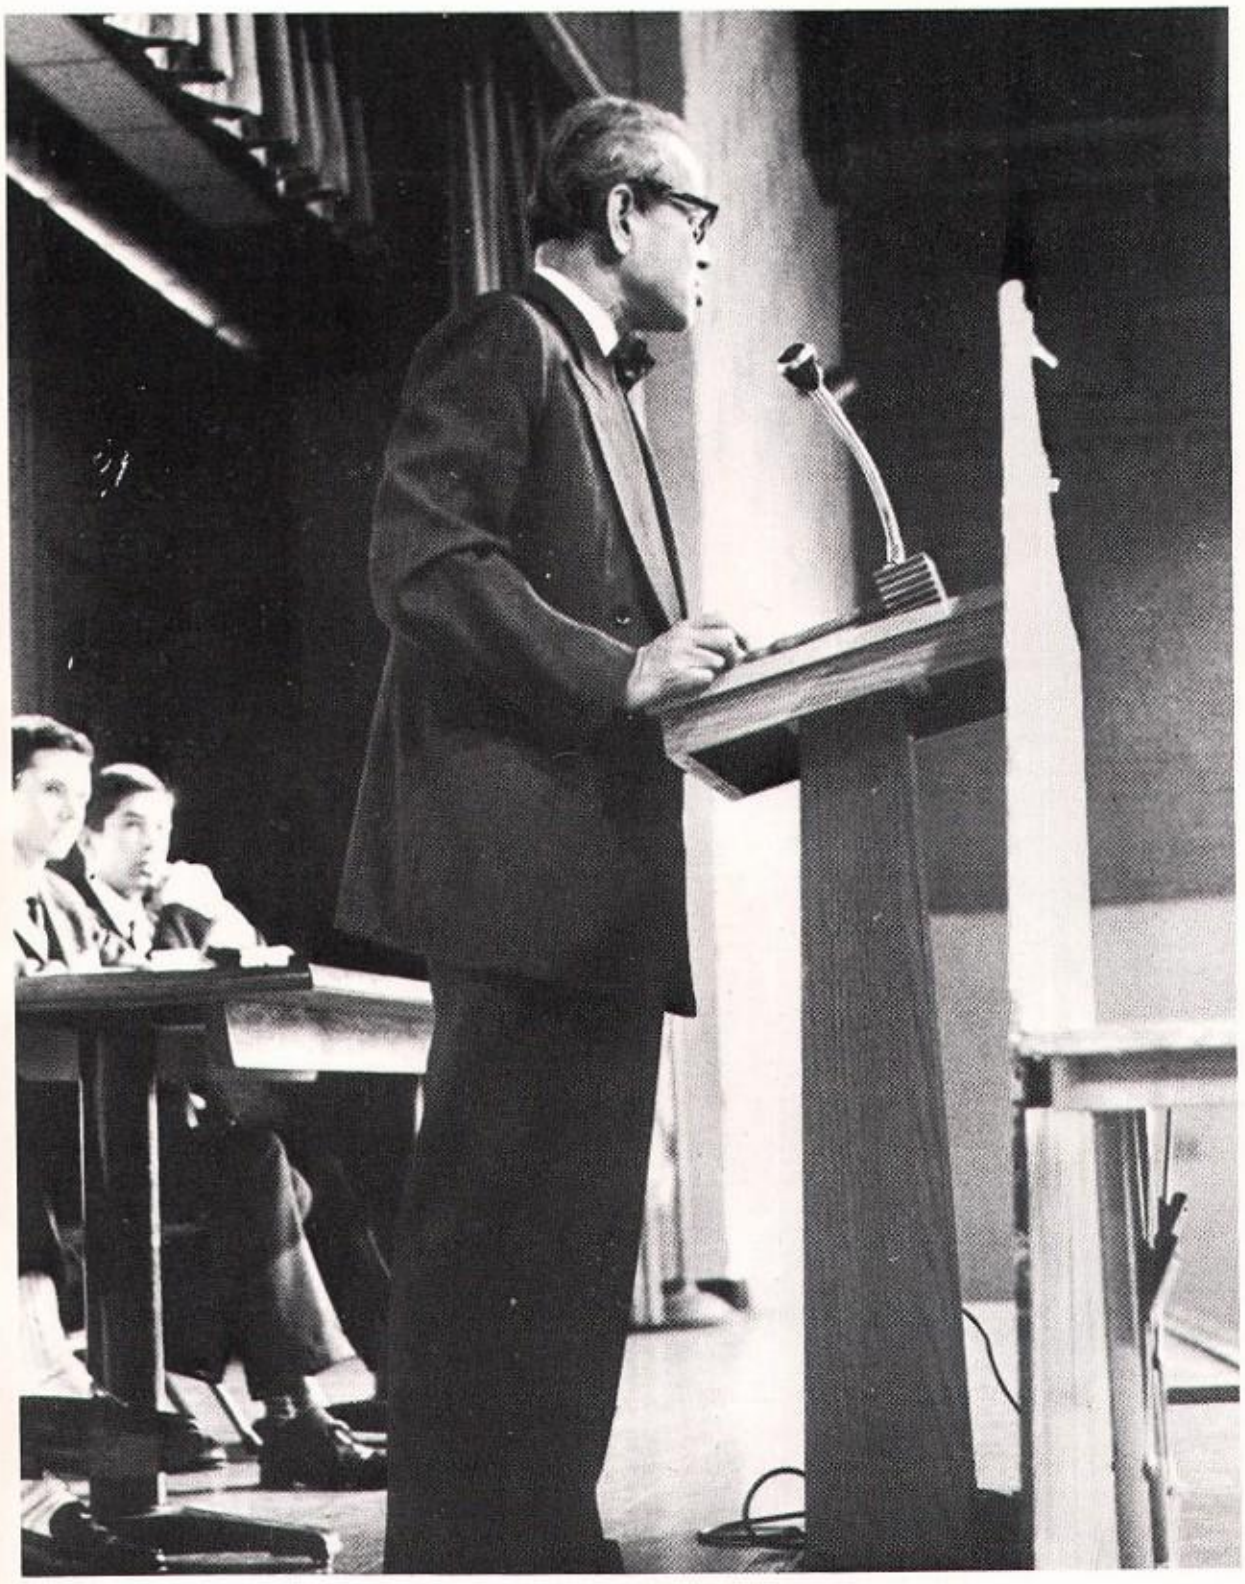
HISTORY CLUB

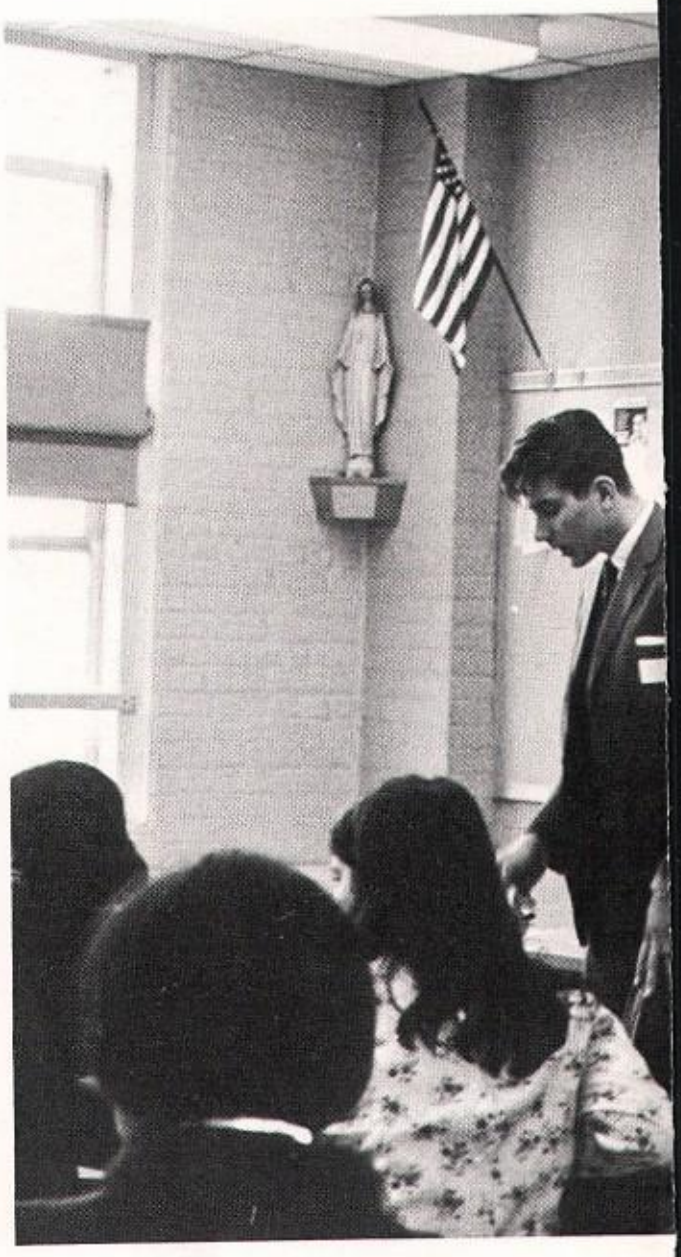
The main function of the History Club is to make aware the facts of our government to its members. Studying the dichotomy of political ideology the History Club began a detailed analysis of Liberalism and Conservatism and their roles and effects within the Federal Government.

By placing learning into actions, St. Raymond's was the host school for a Political Symposium comprising of forty high schools in the area, and their representatives, organizer of trips of historical importance to Washington, D.C., Canada, and such nearby places as the United Nations and the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Host also to numerous debates, the History Club was a successful organization in that it made known the principles of Democracy to all concerned.



Mr. Patnosh, Moderator, checks meeting agenda with Anthony Burlesco, V.P.





United Nations Representative, Dr. Banerji, was guest speaker for the Political Symposium.

DANCE COMMITTEE

This year was a most successful one for the Dance Committee. The first dance of the Fall, the "Halloween Dance," put the committee on its feet. A tremendous turnout heard the sounds of the Vibrations and the Raleighs. The committee's second dance, called the "Fourth Annual Cats-Eye Dance" was another success, with music provided by The Day Trippers. The last dance, a closed school dance, entitled "A Fly Can't, But a Bird Can," enabled the Dance Committee to go all out with decorations and innovations. Music for this dance was supplied by The Souls. The Committee and Brother Kevin must be given credit in running prosperous and well organized dances.
